

Ministry of Foreign Affairs

Start: 18 May

A challenging and unique online course on Food and Nutrition Security

When completing this course you will be entirely up to speed with the issues and our policies on Food and Nutrition Security

In collaboration with Wageningen UR, enrol before 13 May via Leren@minbuza.nl

For policy officers at the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, other ministries and partner organizations

This course is meant for policy officers and development professionals, either working on Food and Nutrition Security (FNS) and seeking to broaden and refresh their knowledge, or planning to do so and looking to get an in-depth introduction.

The course will start at 18 May

The course will be held in English and will require an investment of max. 4 hours a week.

- ▶ Five weeks online with videos and assignments;
- ▶ Four webinars with a group to acquire in-depth knowledge;
- ▶ Working on a real-life case study.

Learning objectives

In this online course you will gather insight in the context of food and nutrition security and explore theoretical and policy developments at play.

The main frameworks of FNS, global trends and specific challenges in eradicating hunger and malnutrition. Promoting inclusive growth in the agriculture sector, and realising ecological sustainable food systems will be discussed in this course.

You can enrol before 13 May by sending an email to Leren@minbuza.nl

For more information contact Ilse Heeremans: (ilse.heeremans@minbuza.nl).