Message from the Coordinator

Dear CGIAR colleagues and friends <<Last Name>>,

Welcome to the June newsletter of the CGIAR Collaborative Platform for Gender Research!

This newsletter features highlights of gender research across CGIAR, links to selected publications, reports on the three webinars organized by the Platform this quarter, and provides information as to special announcements and upcoming events. In this month's 'The Pulse' section, we hear from Hazel Malapit (IFPRI), the Gender Research Coordinator for Agriculture for Nutrition and Health (A4NH) reflecting on how a cross-CGIAR gender research priority – gender relations vis a vis technological and institutional innovation – is addressed in A4NH.

CGIAR-wide Gender Research Agenda

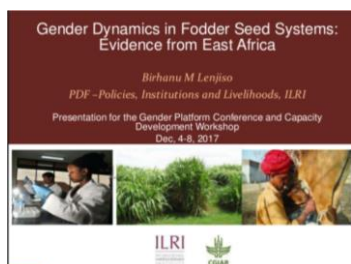

- Annual call for cross-CGIAR gender research proposals
 - 2017 Gender dynamics in seed systems
 - 2018 To be decided
- Annual scientific conferences
 - December 4-8 2017 KIT Royal Tropical Institute in Amsterdam
 - September 25-28 2018 International Livestock Research Institute (ILRI) Campus, Addis Ababa, Ethiopia
 - 2019 Jointly organized with ACIAR and Canberra University, to be held in Canberra, Australia

Vis-a-vis NL-CGIAR Partnership priorities

- Advancing gender equality and improve the position of women and girls is a cross-cutting priority issue and a key objective for the Dutch government
- CGIAR gender research contributes to this and the Platform supports and promotes that research
- Platform works with all CRPs and Centers, including on gender dimensions of the Dutch priority themes:
 - climate smart agriculture
 - agriculture for nutrition and health
 - value chains
 - genetic improvement (breeding)

Most relevant achievements to-date

Main challenge

- Resource mobilization
- Internal barriers to resource mobilization for the Platform due to the financing structure of CGIAR

BUT

- Addressed by the Systems Council endorsement of the CGIAR Collaborative Platform for Gender Research becoming a fully fledged Capital “P” CGIAR Platform

Synergies with other CRPs/Platforms

- System-wide mandate on gender research – work with all CRPs and CGIAR Centers
- Regular communication with Gender Research Coordinators from all CRPs and Centers (call-ins)
- Collaboration with the CGIAR Big Data Platform to embed gender into their work
- Conferences, webinars and newsletters open also to non-CGIAR partners
- Gender Research Integrated Training (GRIT) for postdoctoral fellow (legacy phase 1) – ongoing collaboration with Pennsylvania State University

2018 highlights

- Workshop with 2017 grantees for the gender dynamics in seed systems projects – towards a Special Issue on the topic
- Annual scientific conference at International Livestock Research Institute (ILRI) Campus Addis Ababa September 25-28
- Collaboration with the Big Data Platform, including the October convening
- Regular webinars, blogs, campaigns and newsletters (e.g. June!)
- Synthesis of CGIAR work on Gender Transformative Approaches (GTAs) and related expert meeting (in discussion)

Thank you
